LIVING WELL WITH COPD AFTER DISCHARGE

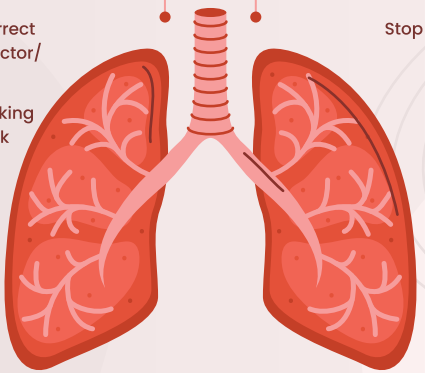

You have been treated for COPD (Chronic Obstructive Pulmonary Disease).
The following tips will help you recover, prevent flare-ups,and stay well at home.

DO

- Take your medicines exactly as prescribed – never skip doses
- Use inhalers with the correct technique – ask your doctor/ nurse to check if unsure
- Stay active – gentle walking and light household work help keep your lungs strong
- Practice breathing exercises – try pursed-lip and diaphragmatic breathing daily
- Eat small, frequent, healthy meals – include fruits, vegetables, and protein
- Drink enough water – helps keep mucus thin and easy to clear.
- Keep your follow-up appointments – even if you feel better.
- Get your flu shot every year and pneumonia vaccine as advised.

DONT

- Smoke or be near smokers – it worsens COPD
- Stop medicines without your doctor's advice
- Ignore changes in your breathing or cough
- Stay in dusty, smoky, or polluted environments for long periods
- Overexert yourself – pace your activities and rest when needed

WATCH OUT FOR – SEEK MEDICAL HELP IF YOU NOTICE

- Sudden or worsening shortness of breath
- Fever above 100.4°F (38°C)
- Chest pain or tightness
- Bluish lips, fingertips, or face
- Feeling unusually tired, dizzy, or confused
- Coughing up more mucus, or mucus changing to green/yellow/brown.
